2. The proposal due date of August 1, 2003, 2:00 P.M., Hawaiian Standard Time, remains unchanged.

Q53. Is the contractor obligated to bid or accept any and all task orders up to $7million?

For example:

- a. If a task order is outside of the contractor's normal scope of work and/or expertise, is he still required to bid or accept a task?
- b. If the contractor declines to bid on a task, will this be considered a default on the bid bond.
- c. What penalty, if any, is placed on the contractor for failing to bid on a task order?

A53. Once the minimum guarantee is satisfied, (1) the contractor is not obligated to provide proposals on or accept future task orders and (2) the contractor will not be penalized if they fail to provide proposals on future task orders. The Government could include technical evaluation factors such as past performance, capability to perform, and responsiveness when selecting contractors for future task orders.
